

TE Connectivity President Terrence Curtin will succeed CEO Tom Lynch, Effective March 9, 2017

- Lynch Will Continue as Executive Chairman of the Board After the Transition
- Company to Report 2016 Full-Year Financial Results on November 2, 2016

SCHAFFHAUSEN, Switzerland – October 3, 2016 – TE Connectivity Ltd. (NYSE: TEL) today announced that its Board of Directors has appointed Terrence Curtin to succeed Tom Lynch as the company’s chief executive officer, effective March 9, 2017. Curtin was previously elected to TE Connectivity’s (TE) Board of Directors at the company’s annual general meeting held on March 2, 2016 and is currently TE’s president.

Lynch has served as the company’s Chief Executive Officer since January 2006 and was elected to Chairman of the Board in January 2013. He led the transition of TE Connectivity from a former electronics segment of Tyco International to a separate and independent public company. Lynch will serve as the company’s CEO until the transition to Curtin on March 9, 2017. Upon transition, Lynch will continue as Executive Chairman of the Board.

“These are exciting times for TE, and we have never been better positioned to capitalize on the strong underlying trends of a safer, greener, smarter and more connected world,” said Lynch. I have loved being CEO of this company for the past decade, and I’m very happy that Terrence is succeeding me. He is the ideal person to continue leading the company into the future. Terrence has been instrumental in establishing TE’s global leadership position in connectivity and sensor solutions and strengthening the company’s financial performance to drive value for our shareholders. We have prepared Terrence for this role over several years and expect a seamless transition.”

“I appreciate the confidence of the Board and I am excited about the opportunity to lead TE into its next phase, building upon our strategy, attractive business model and commitment to value creation for shareholders. We’ve made strong progress in focusing on harsh environment applications and established TE as the clear leader in connectivity and sensor solutions. I look forward to working with the 72,000 TE employees around the globe who help our customers solve complex challenges for an increasingly connected world,” said Curtin.

Dr. Pierre R. Brondeau, the independent lead director of TE’s Board of Directors said, “Terrence’s appointment to CEO demonstrates TE’s commitment to leadership development and the company’s strong succession planning process. Terrence has been at TE Connectivity for more than 15 years, is a proven leader and has held several executive leadership roles at TE. The Board is confident he will continue to build on TE’s strong foundation and success going forward.”

Curtin was appointed president of TE Connectivity in March 2015 and elected to the Board of Directors in March 2016. In his role as president, Curtin has responsibility for all of the company's connectivity and sensor businesses, as well as mergers and acquisition activities. Prior to his current role, Curtin served as president of TE’s Industrial Solutions segment. Prior to that, from 2006 to 2012, he served as executive vice president and chief financial officer of TE and led the financial aspects of the company’s separation from Tyco International.

Prior to TE, Curtin was the vice president and controller of the Electronics segment of Tyco International from 2001 to 2006. He holds a Bachelor's of Science degree in Accounting from Albright College and is a member of its Board of Trustees.
